

Cogito Group and Ionize Announce Strategic Partnership

Cogito Group and Ionize today announced a strategic partnership that will enable both companies to significantly strengthen the breadth and depth of their cyber security capability.

This collaborative partnership was formed in direct response to the rise of malicious cyber activity, which is seeing increasingly sophisticated strategies being used to infiltrate systems and networks on a global scale. The Cogito and Ionize partnership unites two unique solution capabilities, which enables both companies to assist their clients and prospects bring stronger elements to their cyber defences.

“Cogito Group and Ionize are both successful Australian cyber security companies with a global presence. We both have inhouse labs to research and develop innovative solutions to take to market. We’re both subject matter experts in our specific areas of cyber security with strong reputations on experience and delivery. By signing this partnership, we are strategically positioning our companies to focus on collaboration,” stated Richard Brown, Managing Director of Cogito Group.

“We know as our businesses continue to refine our product offerings to meet the varying cyber security needs of our customers, we need to become more diverse and sophisticated. This partnership positions us for that and ensures we continue on our path towards being a globally competitive cyber security company,” Richard Brown stated.

“Cogito Group and Ionize are both subject matter experts in our specific areas of cyber security with strong reputations on experience and delivery.

By signing this partnership, we are strategically positioning our companies to focus on collaboration.”

“This partnership will allow us to expand our world class and comprehensive cyber security solutions and services, delivering further value to our clients across a broadened portfolio.”

Managing Director of Ionize, Andrew Muller recognises the opportunities to come from the partnership, acknowledging “as the risks for our clients grow due to the ever-increasing global cyber threat, we are excited to be formally partnering with Cogito.”

“This partnership will allow us to expand our world class and comprehensive cyber security solutions and services, delivering further value to our clients across a broadened portfolio. With a similar heritage as local Canberra start-ups who have taken on global expansions, we feel that the partnership will position us both to achieve our individual and joint strategies, whilst providing our clients with a first-class experience.”

About Cogito Group

Cogito Group is an award-winning ICT company specialising in authentication, cloud security, identity management and data protection. Cogito Group protect the authentication methods used to access information through the use of identity, PKI, encryption and other security technologies.

For more information about Cogito Group visit: www.cogitogroup.net

About Ionize

Ionize is a specialist Cyber Security firm, specialising in Threat Detection & Hunting, Adversary Tactics, Adversary Simulation & Detection, and Governance Risk and Compliance. Ionize has a key focus on ensuring we provide our team with the latest available skills and tools to ensure that we provide the best possible outcomes for our clients against an ever-growing global cyber threat.

For more information about Ionize visit: www.ionize.com.au

Cogito Group media contact:

0417 266 695
Bernadette Brown
Director
Cogito Group

Ionize media contact:

michelle.arrowsmith@ionize.com.au
Michelle Arrowsmith
Chief Operating Officer
Ionize